FOREWORD

How a society treats its most vulnerable members says a lot about its values. In end-of-life care, we have the rare privilege of stepping into a family's life during their most fragile moments and helping to fulfil their wishes. Every wish we support tells a unique story about what a person treasures most. For some, it is the nostalgic smell of the ocean. For others, it is a room filled with laughter, video games and birthday treats, surrounded by childhood friends.

This edition of Wish Beat offers a glimpse into how these wishes come to life. You will read about Mr Mohideen returning to the waters that shaped his youth, Dickson celebrating his 22nd birthday surrounded by loved ones, and Jessica capturing timeless family portraits in a room filled with love. These moments are made possible through empathy, careful planning and the dedication of many people.

Behind every fulfilled wish is a care ecosystem committed to continuous learning. To maintain this standard of care, we organise refresher training, grief support workshops and learning exchanges with our partners for our volunteers and team members. We are also immensely grateful for the strong turnout at our inaugural charity golf tournament at The Singapore Island Country Club.

As you read through this issue, I hope you feel proud of what we have built together. Thank you for standing with us as we celebrate life, honour memories and bring comfort to homes across Singapore.

FULFILLING A WISH

A Quiet Thank You on a Meaningful Birthday

Some birthdays are celebrated by going somewhere special, but Mr Dickson Wu wished to be surrounded by his loved ones for a cosy gaming night for his 22nd birthday.

On 21 August 2026, our volunteers, Caral, Genevieve, Michele, Evelyn and Dominic, brought the celebration to him. Upon learning that Dickson's television was no longer working, they managed to secure a donated set from another volunteer, Ms Cindy Ho.

Together with Dickson's closest buddies, they created a relaxed evening filled with movies, gaming, good food and great company, adding to the festive mood with decorations and his favourite dishes.

What made the evening truly precious was seeing his entire family gathered together. It was a rare occasion and Dickson shared that it was the most elaborate birthday celebration he had ever had.

Dickson also prepared a quiet gesture of his own, presenting a pouch bag to each of his family members and friends. Shy and soft-spoken, he did not need to say much. His gift spoke for him, offering a simple thank you for the love and care they have shown him over the years.

The night ended on a sweet note with a specially ordered chocolate mousse cake, kindly sponsored by Messwithbutter.

We hope Mr Dickson had a memorable time spent with his loved ones on his special day.

We offer our heartfelt thanks to Ms Cindy Ho and family for generously providing the television out of goodwill.

Thank you Mr Dickson and family for allowing Ambulance Wish Singapore into your home and hearts.

Returning to the Open Sea with Lifelong Friends

A long career on cargo ships meant that 71-year-old Mr Mohideen spent a significant portion of his life on the water.

That background made fishing a natural pursuit, and through it, he formed a tight knit circle of friends. These friendships extended well beyond the boat, remaining strong through every stage of his life.

His wish was to return offshore for a fishing session, accompanied by these same friends.

On 4 July 2026, our volunteer team, Bryan, Jia Chun and Kamal, arranged the boat trip and the weather held up well for fishing. The group spent several hours on the open sea, taking turns at the lines, catching up on each other's lives and enjoying the familiar environment.

The fish they reeled in made for good photos and friendly competition, but having the whole group together on the water made the outing truly count.

It is with a heavy heart that we share the news of Mr Mohideen's peaceful departure on 18 August 2026.

We extend our heartfelt condolences and deepest gratitude to Mr Mohideen and his loved ones for trusting Ambulance Wish Singapore and allowing us to be a part of his wish journey.

A Little Room for Big Magic

On 13 June 2026, Ambulance Wish Singapore had the privilege of fulfilling the wish of 34-year-old Ms Jessica Tan.

From the very first meeting at Singapore General Hospital, Jessica left an indelible impression on our volunteers. She was a chatty, spirited bundle of joy whose warmth filled the room.

Initially, her wish was to have a gathering with her family and friends. When her condition required a move into an isolated clean room with strict visitor limits and personal protective equipment protocols, Jessica adapted with grace.

Her wish evolved into capturing family portraits, recording legacy messages and taking a graduation photograph alongside her younger brother—a milestone they had never shared.

On the day of her wish experience, around twenty of Jessica's closest family members and friends came together. Her room was transformed with Disney-themed balloons, familiar songs playing softly and two plush companions, Pooh Bear and Eeyore, watching over her.

To honour her privacy during the legacy recordings, only Alyssa, her Care Coordinator, and Mano, our volunteer photographer, remained in the room. Jessica spoke vulnerably and from the heart to her loved ones through the camera, balancing tears with her signature bright and cheerful spirit.

Shortly after, Jessica and her younger brother donned graduation gowns, capturing a long-awaited memory side by side.

Family portraits followed as visitors entered in carefully managed waves. Clad in protective gear, words were few, but a glance, a smile and a quiet presence conveyed everything.

Though constrained by circumstances, it was enough to see Jessica smile, hear her laugh and watch her simply be herself.

"Sometimes the smallest things take up the most room in your heart."

- Winnie the Pooh

Jessica peacefully departed on 7 July 2026. We extend our deepest gratitude to Jessica and her loved ones for trusting us and allowing us to be part of her wish journey.

We also thank our volunteers Lionel, Ada, Benedict, Mano and Sylvia, as well as Alyssa, Care Coordinator from National Cancer Centre Singapore, for referring Jessica's wish and supporting her with unwavering care.

With Ambulance Wish Singapore, one could wish to go to places, meet loved ones, have special experiences and give back or leave a lasting legacy. Click Here for more information.

Tee Off for Wishes Charity Golf and Dinner, 11 September

In September, the fairways and dining tables came alive for a great cause at Tee Off for Wishes Charity Golf and Dinner. Bringing together golfers for an afternoon on the greens followed by an evening charity dinner created a space to connect, celebrate and make a tangible difference in end-of-life care.

Sincere gratitude goes out to all the wonderful sponsors and partners who not only contributed generously but also joined in to play, dine and show their support in person.

Every contribution made throughout the event helps move the needle closer to the $350,000 fundraising target set to sustain wish-granting operations. The impact of this collective generosity means more beneficiaries will receive the gift of a fulfilled wish.

Ongoing contributions toward this target are deeply appreciated as Ambulance Wish Singapore continues working to turn more final dreams into reality.

What Can You Wish For?

Wish requests typically fall into these four major categories. The possibilities, however, are endless because each patient is unique.

I wish to go...

to a place of personal significance (e.g home, beach) or attend a loved one's milestone event (e.g birthday, wedding).

I wish to meet...

those who mean a lot to me, like my spouse, favourite television personality, childhood friends or pet.

I wish to have...

a meaningful experience, like a gathering or staycation, an outing, a photoshoot with my loved ones, or something special (e.g riding a sports car, attending a concert, going on a yacht).

I wish to give...

back to society through a fundraiser of my own, or leave a legacy (e.g recipe book, personal biography, art exhibition)

Know someone that could benefit from a wish?

BEHIND EVERY WISH

Dr Lim Yi Jun

Hello! Could you introduce yourself and tell us a bit about your role and daily work at HCA Hospice?

I'm Yijun, a doctor with HCA Hospice. Our daily work involves visiting our patients in their homes, where we bring medical care and support directly to them. Being able to care for our patients in their own homes means we can attend to their needs in an environment that is familiar and comforting, while ensuring that their choices are heard and respected.

Our care goes beyond managing symptoms. We look at what matters to each patient and their family, whether it is making changes to the home environment to make caregiving safer and easier, providing emotional support, or addressing any concerns they may have along the way.

As Singapore's largest home hospice provider, we bring care to patients and their families, helping to create good days so they can focus on what matters most - spending meaningful time together.

How did you first discover Ambulance Wish Singapore (AWS) and what encouraged you to become an active referrer for our work?

I found out about Ambulance Wish Singapore (AWS) when I first worked here a few years ago. I find the cause of AWS noble and meaningful as we have patients who may have certain things they wish to do but fear troubling their family members and worry about the logistics of fulfilling these wishes. Being able to facilitate an activity or an event for our patients to look forward to brings me much joy!

What role does wish fulfilment play in the holistic care of palliative patients and their loved ones?

I feel that wish fulfilment can be a meaningful way to bring patients and their loved ones closer together. It creates an intentional space for them to spend quality time together, share meaningful moments and create new memories. These moments can become cherished memories that loved ones can hold on to and look back on, even after the patient has passed on.

Could you share a memorable wish referral experience that stood out to you and why it left a lasting impression?

I had a patient who initially had a number of symptoms to manage when we first referred her. She is a very sociable person and has a very close knit family but when I initially met her, she was quite demoralised. This experience stood out for me because as we managed to get her symptoms better under control, I managed to see her regain that cheerfulness and she was truly so excited to have a big gathering with her friends and family to look forward to. In HCA, we want to create good days for our patients and I was so glad that AWS was able to help us fulfil that.

How do you see the partnership between healthcare professionals and Ambulance Wish Singapore growing to support more patients in Singapore?

We envision closer integration between our clinical team and Ambulance Wish Singapore – from earlier identification of patients who could benefit, to smoother coordination on the day itself – so that no patient's wish goes unspoken. By building greater awareness of wish fulfilment and strengthening referral pathways, we can help more patients and their loved ones explore meaningful experiences that bring joy, connection and a sense of fulfilment during a difficult time.

At HCA Hospice, we believe that palliative care goes beyond managing symptoms. It is also about understanding what matters most to each patient and supporting them to live meaningfully. As our patient population grows, so does the need for partnerships like this one.

Through continued collaboration with Ambulance Wish Singapore, we hope to make wish fulfilment more accessible to patients who may benefit from it, while working together to create more good days for patients and their families.

A heartfelt thank you to Dr Yijun and the team at HCA Hospice for your unwavering dedication to creating good days and meaningful moments for every patient.
